HERRIN, ILL., UNDER MARTIAL LAW TO PRECLUDE MASSACRE

COURT SAYS CRIME IS DELIBERATE

Case of William H. Anderson, Superintendent of the New York Anti-Saloon League, Trying to Escape Sing Sing

SENTENCE IS STAYED

Accused of Third Degree Forgery — Court Says Anderson Had a Fair Trial, Is Ably Defended, And the Jury Is Comprised of Very Intelligent Men

New York, Feb. 9.—(United Press).—William Anderson, superintendent of the New York Anti-Saloon League, today is preparing for a last desperate fight to avoid becoming an inmate of Sing Sing prison.

He was sentenced late yesterday in supreme court by Justice Arthur S. Tompkins to serve not less than one year and not more than two, but obtained a stay of sentence, pending hearing on a certificate of reasonable doubt.

If this is refused he will begin serving his sentence next Friday. If it is granted, he may be given a new trial.

Justice Tompkins refused a plea for clemency and suspension of sentence made by Anderson's attorney, former Governor Charles S. Whitman, but granted the stay of sentence. Anderson meantime is free on continuance of his $5,000 bond.

Following his sentence, Anderson is reported to have tendered his resignation to the anti-saloon league.

Justice Tompkins after hearing Whitman's plea for clemency scored Anderson for what he termed "obviously false testimony" given during the trial.

"This crime, (third degree forgery) was deliberately committed," the court said.

"The defendant had a fair trial, ably defended, and the jury was composed of exceptionally high grade intelligent men, and I must therefore deny motion for clemency."

Anderson received his sentence without comment, although visibly nervous.

Immediately after his freedom was arranged on bond, the dry leader fled from the court room, refusing to answer numerous queries of newspapermen.

Anderson was found guilty of third degree forgery, growing out of his

THE PRINCE RESTS WELL AFTER HURTS

London, Feb. 9.—(United Press).—A storm of national protest against the Prince of Wales' recklessness on the hunting field has been aroused by the accident in which the heir to the British throne broke a collar bone near Leighton yesterday.

The Prince's physicians issued a bulletin at 10 o'clock this morning, saying the patient had slept well and was progressing.

Upon learning that Wales had not suffered serious injury, the public reaction was indignation. This is believed to be the fourteenth bad fall suffered by the Prince, who is untiring and fearless and out every day during the hunting season.

People attach more importance to the accident to his royal highness in view of the recent death of Captain Bennett, prominent steeplechase rider, who was killed in a fall.

It pays to advertise in the Mail.

Mon City Boy P. S. Student Unique Illness

James Allen 20 years old, son of Albert T. Allen, Marne avenue, Monongahela, a student at Pennsylvania State college, was removed to the St. Francis hospital, Pittsburgh, Wednesday evening, suffering from a strange malady, which the attending physicians now pronounce sleeping sickness. Allen's condition today is serious and shows no improvement. His father, well-known shoe merchant, was called to State college one week ago to care for the boy and later had him removed to the Pittsburgh institution where his condition steadily grew worse.

The young man is a graduate of Monongahela High school, class of 1922, and is one of Monongahela's most popular young men.

MEN ARE SHOT IN BATTLE

BULLETIN.

Herrin, Ill., Feb. 9.—(United Press).—The Carbondale troops of the Illinois National Guard took control of Williamson mining camp today and with loaded revolvers patrolled Herrin hospital, which was fired upon by a body of 100 alleged Ku Klux Klansmen.

Herrin, Ill., Feb. 9.—(United Press).—Five companies of Illinois National Guard, numbering 200 men, were converging on Herrin today to halt the threat of another bloody massacre in Williamson county as the result of a war between members of the Ku Klux Klan and anti-Klansmen.

Trouble sprang up in town mobs fighting here just before midnight, resulting in the slaying of a Herrin policeman and Klan leader, and a deputy sheriff of the anti-Klan faction.

Caesar Cagle, Klansman, and policeman, was shot to death on the street here shortly after Deputy John Leyman, bitter enemy of the Ku Klux Klan and its wholesale liquor raids, was shot and fatally wounded at a meeting of liquor raid victims. The

Henry Says We Will All Have Autos-Some Day

Harrisburg, Feb. 9.—(United Press).—Henry Ford may have been thinking of the farmers when he said that every man in the country will some day drive to work in his own automobile.

The State Department of Agriculture has announced figures showing that three out of four Pennsylvania farmers use the automobile either for work or pleasure. There was an increase of 10 per cent in the number of cars used by farmers last year over 1922.

Farmers are also radio fans. Six hundred and ninety-six townships report 2,412 radios in use on the farm. This means over 7,000 in use in the state or one in every six farms.

WARRANTS ISSUED FOR TWENTY-SEVEN

Philadelphia, Feb. 9.—(United Press).—Warrants for the arrest of 27 persons indicted by Federal grand jury here last Friday on charges of being implicated in the million dollar mail booze conspiracy were issued by United States Commissioner Manley today.

A sentence of 104 years and a fine of $520,000 will be inflicted on him if found guilty on all counts.

Another interesting feature was the distribution of a number of favors giving by the Dunlevy Packing company, with I. N. South, Burgess of Bentleyville, chairman of this feature. The two hours spent at this occasion were very much enjoyed by all present.

Canonsburg Italian Sent to the Workhouse, Fined $1,000 And Costs And Imprisonment For One Year And Six Months

ACCUSED PLEADS GUILTY

Understood Accused Became the Head of a Reorganized Black Hand Society of Canonsburg, After the Arrest And Conviction of Marcantonio Daniele

A fine of $1,000 and costs and imprisonment for one year and six months in the Allegheny county workhouse was imposed yesterday afternoon by Judge Erwin Cummins, upon Frank DeVitto, a well known Italian of Canonsburg.

The court in passing sentence on the defendant, cautioned him to think over what he had been doing and when he was released to try and live as a law abiding citizen. The court intimated that it knew something about DeVitto, but it did not say what it was.

It has been understood, it is said, that DeVitto became the head, a number of months ago, of a reorganized Black Hand society at Canonsburg, this reorganization taking place after the arrest and conviction of Marcantonio Daniele, who it was alleged was head of the society in Canonsburg at the time he with Angelo Fraggassa murdered Gabriel Fiori, in East Canonsburg.

Daniele and Fraggassa were electrocuted at Rockview on December 10 last. It is said that just a short time before the electrocution and at a time when it appeared commutation might be given Daniele the Black Hand organization at Canonsburg was organized. DeVitto, it is understood county authorities learned, was elected head of the society.

At the time the officers raided his place they found liquor and other evidences that he was engaged in the unlawful sale of the stuff.

BOROUGH PROGRESS.
Charlottesville is looking up and into the distance of an unknown future. The horoscope and perspective however, augurs borough progress.

There are at least two elements which enter into the nature of things that causes one to make borough progress deduction. There are others, and there will be others, but at the present time the business people of the town, particularly, and for the most part, are deeply interested in the White Way and the Borough Planning Commission. The White Way system has been formally started, and very soon the people will see a demonstration of its value.

The Charlottesville Chamber of Commerce, and brought into the borough as an active force by the Charlottesville Council, the residents of the borough and those of the community will await the coming of the system with anxiety, and judge of the wisdom of the borough heads in promoting and entering into a contract and agreement with the West Penn Power Company for the necessity, comparable with its beauty. The demonstration will be given by the West Penn Power Company in the course of a week or ten days.

Of the Borough Planning Commission, judging by results obtained in Monongahela, for example, it will be a splendid business proposition for Charlottesville. People, we think, are not generally familiar with the powers and privileges of a Commission, but of information of this character, the same will be published in the Mail in due time. The address of Claude Townner, a Monongahela business man, at the Chamber of Commerce banquet at the Elks club next Tuesday night, will doubtless impart considerable information of the workings of the Commission and its success in co-operating with the council of that city in Monongahela's known progress.

At least one journalist has come forward to remind a Secretary Fall et al., that "the love of money is the root of all evil," but the average get-rich-quick operator is not likely to be interested in such pronouncements either before or after too great publicity.

Edward L. Doherty, the California oil magnate of Teapot Dome fame, in reported to possess extensive oil interests in troubled Mexico. It is stated that in January, 1923, he presented the United States government lots adjacent to the American embassy in Mexico City valued at $50,000 and that the substantial gift was accepted.

A "Congressman" who divides his time between the House of Representatives and his retail shoe store is quoted as saying that a change of styles doubles sales. Of course, that is why the styles are changed just as often as the American public—the most patient and submissive of all peoples—can be counted on to permit.

All that is needed to prevent war according to a visiting Englishman, is for the United States and the British empire to agree not to supply food, money or munitions to any country which attempts to start a war. "Why don't we do it?" he asks. Well, for one thing, our Senate—except in Mexico's case—is dead set against "entangling alliances" of any sort.

Germs to Help Run Engines by Producing Gas Fuel

Methane, one of the gases used for motor fuel, is being produced in commercial quantities in India with the aid of germs that convert a mixture of sewer sludge and sawdust into various compounds of which the gas forms an important part. The tiny creatures are cultivated in airtight tanks kept at a warm temperature. They multiply rapidly and by working on the mixture produce acetic acid and carbon gas as well as methane. Marsh gas, frequently found in stagnant pools, is largely the result of their presence and causes decay and fermentation of vegetable matter. Banana stems and skins have been found to yield as much as 10 per cent more when acted upon by certain kinds of germs.

Radio "Dot" Spans Ocean at Speed of Light

Recent experiments show that radio messages can be acknowledged and checked almost simultaneously with the sending. The tests were conducted over the aerial loop between New York and London. The operator at the control center in New York instructed the European representative to tie up his receiving station with the transmitting station. A "dot" was then sent out and made the complete circuit from New York to London and return while the foreign operator was manipulating his key. The Polish operator was then instructed to leave his key and the "dot" raced twenty times around the circuit at a speed of 186,000 miles per second before being away because of electrical distance.

Four steers weighing about 2,000 pounds each were roasted in an electrically heated pit in the West recently, the meat being served to 5,000 persons. A Folding Kitchen Table

In a small kitchen, where space is at a premium, a folding table of the type shown in the drawing will be greatly appreciated. The table top is 1 by 30 by 48 in. in dimensions, and is supported by two braces of 1 by 2-in. stock. Two 1-ft. lengths of 1 by 2-in. material are screwed the wall by long screws driven into the studs. The table top is then hinged to the lower member as shown. The braces are 32 1/2 in. long, and are cut and hinged so that they will fall into place automatically when the table top is lifted.

To fold this handy table it is only necessary to strike the joints of the braces with the knee or hand, while holding the table top to prevent it from 'shimmying.' There are no levers to sweep around with a table of this type, and the braces do not prevent a chair from being drawn up close to the table.

MAHOMET AND THE MOUNTAIN IN MONTANA

Out between Plentywood and Panhandle was born the first vocational congress for girls. From Plentywood, 100 miles as the crow flies, to Montana State college, at Bozeman, girls make their way November after November, to satisfy the longing question: "What shall I do?" Others along the South Dakota line come 300 miles. Sometimes rail and auto bus connections are so poor that it takes three days each way for the trip, but they make it, these Montana high school girls, for what they find in the congress.

It may be just accident, but I don't happen to know of a single Montana girl drifting around the big cities hunting just any sort of a job. The first United States congresswoman, yes. The assistant director of a great bureau in the United States Department of Labor, yes. But drifters, no.

The personal story of Una B. Herrick may throw light on the willingness of Montana girls to make good in their own state. Widowed, left with a family and without money in New York, she decided first to leave New York. "Oh," she says, "I loved New York—I do yet! But my idea was and is that a woman can find a greater field of usefulness, more return in money, more friends and a saner sort of happiness in a small community."

Teaching, studying and "waiting my chance," she has come to be dean of women's work and social dean of the Montana Woman's college. The vocational congress came because Mrs. Herrick recognized the inspiration from knowledge of what other women are doing, that gets automatically pooled in big cities, and felt the shut-offness of Montana girls from this knowledge and inspiration. It was the old affair of bringing the mountain to Mahomet. Each fall distinguished business and professional women take their accumulated experience to the Montana girls. The impression one carries away, according to one of these visitors, is that all the value of the congress pales beside the value of the by-products now established—standards of dress, of conduct, of community recreation, and of democracy—shared by the girls themselves from year to year.

For herself—"No, I don't go back to New York every year now, like I used to. I'm more apt to go over to the west coast when I have a vacation. I look out across this country—anywhere this side of St. Paul—with a feeling of knowing every one I meet; woman; of being at home; of proprietorship. That's the feeling the West gives us."

TO PRECLUDE BALL PARKS FOR BOXING

New York, Feb. 9.—(United Press.)—Action to make it difficult for promoters to use ball parks for big boxing bouts next summer will be taken by the newly organized New York boxing commission, it was learned today.

If William Muldoon swallows his pride and decides to remain as a working member of the commission, instead of as a leader, it is certain that a fight will be made to make the ball parks undesirable and unprofitable for championship bouts.

Although he declared that the election of George Brower, New York, attorney, as chairman of the commission, was a "lack of courtesy," Muldoon said he wouldn't resign if the public and newspapers thought he could do the sport some good by acting as an ordinary commissioner. The public endorsed Muldoon as an essential member of the commission that it was freely predicted today that boxing would "do a bust" if he resigned.

It is considered almost certain that Muldoon will remain on the commission and it was even suggested that he would have more power in a minor position than he would exert at the helm.

Muldoon said that he would propose and fight for a rule that would permit boxing in the ball parks only when the normal seating capacity of the parks would be used. He meant he said, that no seats could be constructed on the playing field.

LEWIS AUTHORIZED FEENEY TO EMPLOY CLERICAL HELP

Charleoi, Pa., February 8, 1924.
Editor the Charleoi Mail:—On page 1 of the Charleoi Mail of January 30 there was published an article which stated that William Feeney was scored for hiring his non-union son, by James Oates on the floor of the International Convention, Indianapolis, Ind. President John L. Lewis told the convention that he authorized President Feeney to employ such clerical help in his office as was required to properly conduct the business of the district and was wholly within his rights and did not violate any of these instructions nor the rules and laws of the United Mine Workers of America when he employed his son as bookkeeper and stenographer.

Board Member O'Leary, who was the financial agent during the coke region strike, said that several hundred thousand dollars was poured into District No. 4 by the International organization, and that it was necessary to have a competent bookkeeper to keep the accounts. He said Frank Feeney had done his work well. The International auditors, Will C. Thompson and John Saxton, who audited the books of District No. 4, explained that the books and accounts of that district were in the best condition of any that they have examined anywhere. Frank Feeney is not a non-union man as was stated in the article published in your paper January 30. He is a bookkeeper and stenographer. He never worked in a coal mine and is not a member of the United Mine Workers of America and in that respect he stands in the same position as any other stenographer and bookkeeper.

In order to ascertain whether there was any motive behind the criticism offered by Delegate Oates, a delegate from another district asked him if it were not true that he had been dismissed as an organizer for the United Mine Workers of America on January 15, 1924. Oates answered that it was true.

SOME FOLK "AGIN" GOVERNOR PINCHOT

Philadelphia, Feb. 9.—(United Press.)—Organized opposition to Governor Pinchot as one of the "big seven" delegates at large to the Republican National Convention is appearing in the eastern part of the state.
Ralph Beaver Strassburger, Norris-town; Frank B. McClain, former lieutenant governor, of Lancaster, and William F. Campbell, registrar of wills for Philadelphia, have declared war on the governor.
A second meeting of this group will be held soon to outline their campaign as Strassburger as candidate in opposition to Governor Pinchot for a place on the ticket.
Many party leaders throughout the state are understood to have assured the three men who are openly opposed to Pinchot that they would support an anti-administration candidate in order to prevent the governor from going to Cleveland.

ADD NEW STUDY TO CURRICULUM

New York, Feb. 9.—(United Press.)—University Extension course in selling life insurance will be given at Columbia University during the spring session, it was announced by Director James C. Egbert. The instructor will be Howard K. Nixon of the psychology department.

"In the course," said the announcement, "the problem of the life insurance salesman will be approached from the psychological point of view. It is recognized that the greatest success in selling depends not only upon a knowledge of life insurance facts and figures but also, and more fundamentally, upon a practical knowledge of the mechanisms of human behavior—the motives, instincts and interests that lead the prospect to act or prevent his action."

"The case method of teaching is used, thus presenting in the shortest possible time the psychological principles involved as they actually work out in concrete instances. This will be followed by analysis and discussion."

MINE HEADS LEAVE TODAY FOR FLORIDA

They left last evening for Pittsburgh, where they joined other delegates from all party of the county, who are this morning all journeying towards Jacksonville.

AUTO OWNERS

Deductions allowed taxpayers in connection with the maintenance and operation of automobiles are the subject of frequent inquiries from taxpayers in filing an income tax return. The following is for the guidance of owners and prospective owners:

Such costs for garage bills, gasoline, repairs, etc., may be deducted as a business expense when an automobile is used wholly for business purposes, or in the trade, profession, or farming. When used partly for such purposes and partly for the pleasure or convenience of the taxpayer and his family, the cost may be prorated and that part attributable to business or the other pursuits mentioned deducted as a business expense.

The same rule applies with regard to the deduction for depreciation, which is allowed when an automobile is used wholly in business, trade, profession or farming, and must be apportioned accordingly when used partly for such purposes and partly for pleasure. If an automobile is used almost exclusively for pleasure, a deduction for depreciation is not allowed.

The purchase price of an automobile, even when used wholly in business, cannot be deducted from gross income. It is a capital expenditure, deduction of which is expressly disallowed by the revenue act. The 5 per cent tax which attaches to the sale of an automobile cannot be deducted by the purchaser because it is a tax levied on the sale by the manufacturer, and must be returned and paid to him. The manufacturer may reimburse himself in the amount of the tax by agreement with the purchaser, in manner prescribed by Treasury regulations. So far as the purchaser is concerned, the tax is a part of the return, unless the amount is included in his gross income.

An automobile license fee is regarded as a tax, and may be deducted whether the automobile is used for business or for pleasure or convenience.

In the event of a collision between a truck and an automobile used for pleasure or convenience, the owner of the truck may claim a deduction for damages provided the truck was being used for business at the time of the collision. No deduction is allowed the owner of the automobile, because it was not being used for business purposes. Amounts expended by owners of automobiles used for pleasure or convenience in repairing damages thereto caused by negligent operation do not constitute deductible losses.

Taxpayers are advised not to delay the filing of their returns. To do so results in confusion and congestion during the closing days of the filing period, which ends at midnight of March 15.

TRYING TO TELL THE CAUSE OF DEATH

New York, Feb. 9.—(United Press)—Back in the Texas town where her body kept the grocery store, Louis Lawson was a child prodigy. Not a girl for miles around in the low state could play the piano as Louise could at 12. Her folks sent her to New York from Walnut Springs to complete a musical education—a little slip of a Texas girl with a winsome, cultured manner that made her influential friends.

Today, a grief stricken mother was hurrying north and physicians were performing an autopsy upon the brain of the girl, who was 22, when she met violent death Friday, to determine whether she was strangled or smothered in her luxurious West Side apartment known as "The Monastery."

Miss Lawson's body, clad in a blue silk night gown, was found sprawled in the abandon of death across the lace coverlet of an expensive mahogany bed in her apartment. Silken hose and torn strips of filmy underwear bound her hands and feet, while across her mouth, apparently the cause of death, a turkish towel had been fastened with strips of surgeon's plaster.

Two men, who gained admission to Miss Lawson's apartment a few hours before her dead body was discovered, told the elevator boy that they were bootleggers.

Three jewel cases fashioned in mahogany that matched the furniture in the apartment, had been ransacked. Platinum watches, diamonds, and other jewelry were missing.

The movies' lure had drawn the little Texas girl moth for a while, it developed, and when she had last visited Walnut Springs, admiring friends of her childhood were given to understand she had become successful as a film actress. This explained the smart clothes and the brilliant gems she wore.

When police, summoned to the "monastery" by hysterical "Yah-Yahs" of a colored maid, found the slain girl's body and the evidences that jewel thieves, masquerading as bootleggers, had committed the brutal crime, they turned to a search of the victims personal belongings.

Photographs of men, one on the mahogany dresser in a big silver frame, others scattered about the daintily furnished apartment, led to the true story of her life of the past four years.

She had been friendly with Angier S. Duke, and had been present on the yachting party when that heir to a $5,000,000 tobacco fortune was drowned last September.

One of the photographs was inscribed "Jerry Doll," and astute detectives soon had translated this into Gerhard M. Dahl, of the Brooklyn Manhattan Transit executive committee.

The latter had engaged a lawyer, who spoke for him.

"Mr. Dahl was interested in Miss Lawson's musical career. She was a remarkable pianist, I hear," said Frederick Landeck, attorney.

Stock of the Brooklyn Manhattan Transit company to the value of $12,000 was found in Miss Lawson's name, held by Hayden, Stone and Co.,

SON'S FIDELITY

TO HIS MOTHER

Washington, Feb. 9.—(United Press)—A 3,000-mile race to the bedside of his mother will end here today for Harry G. Selfridge, London department store owner, when his special train arrives this morning.

The trip promises to have a happy ending, for Selfridge's mother, who was for a time dangerously ill of pneumonia is now recovering.

Mrs. Selfridge, who is past 90, was visiting at the home here of Jules Henri De Sibur, when she was stricken with pneumonia. When word was cabled her son in London, he started for Washington. While on shipboard he wired for a special train to meet him when he landed at Halifax, N. S.

Selfridge landed last night, according to word received here, and left aboard the special for Washington.

Mrs. Selfridge, meanwhile, passed the crisis, and though still very weak, on account of her advanced age, is believed to be out of danger unless complications set in.

Mrs. Selfridge's name is in Chicago. It was there that Harry Selfridge learned the department store business which he later tried in London with great success.
